

My telephone is mine, my own property that I pay for. It should be my choice as to whom could use it, especially for commercial use. If that is not true, then am I suppose to let anyone that come to my door have use of my phone? Same difference I believe.